DICKENS STORIES.

THE DOCTOR'S STORY.

A Forgery and a Wedding.

[CONCLUDED.]

Well, away he went; and I thought nothing of what he said. I had got my note back, and I fancied him hard at work at his business. A day or two had elapsed, when a note came to me saying that he was going to Ipswich, and would not be back for some time, although why he volunteered that piece of information to me I did not know. However, I threw the letter one side, and having at that time some lectures to deliver on some scientific subjects a little distance from town, I forgot all about the affair, until a week afterward I received a note, signed by George, which requested me to meet him by the General Post Office, at nine o'clock that evening. There was something about the tenor of the note that gave me uneasiness—I knew not why. It was so extraordinary that he should make a street appointment with me instead of coming, as it seemed to me he might as easily have come to my chamber, as he had frequently done before. But I went. I had not walked twice past the General Post Office when I saw him.—He did not speak, but in a hurried manner led me down an opposite street and said:

'Did you see any one watching?'

'Watching what?' said I.

'Watching me. Are you sure we are not followed?'

'Good God!' said I, 'what do you mean? what if you are followed?'

'Hush! hush! you recollect I borrowed a five pound note of you? well, you thought it was to engrave a 'Bank of Elegance' note, but between you and I, it was to engrave a real one.'

'A real!'

'A real one—a forged one. I have got the plate in my pocket. I have changed one to day but I had to pay away some of the money, and I have spent the remainder, and what's more, I know that I am suspected, because I have been followed about, and I think I have just eluded some one who was sent after me.'

You may guess, doctor, what must have been my feelings at that moment. I recollect a sort of mist flocking about my eyes; and clinging to some iron railings for support. I thought I should faint, and as George went on talking, all I heard was a confused sound, without the least understanding what he said. This dreadful feeling, however, soon passed away, and a dreadful feeling it was. I can compare it to nothing but what I should suppose would be the near approach of death.

'Why, you seem to think more of it,' said George, 'than I do. What's the matter with you?'

'Oh!' said I, 'do you ask? George, George, have you no heart? Have you no head piece, that you can talk so lightly of what must be your ultimate destruction? what—Oh! what is to become of you?'

'Oh! I must get somewhere into the country and try to change some of the notes.'

'No, no, no,' said I. 'Listen to me. There is but one chance for you, and that is to leave England at once and forever.'

'That's all very well,' replied he, 'but where is the money to come from? I can't go under about twenty pounds or so.'

'But would you if you had that amount?'

He hesitated a moment, and then replied:

'Yes, I would—I would certainly; for as you say, it is a bad chance here, and if I am taken the consequences are certain. You have alarmed me a little. I wish I had the last fortnight to see over again. But the honest truth is, I wanted money if for no other purpose, for the sake of showing in some way that I had it, and mortifying my mother and brothers. I was willing to run my risk for such an object, but I do begin to think it a real failure.'

'And is it possible,' said I, 'that for such a poor, wretched motive, you have stooped to such criminality?'

'Never mind that. It's too late now for reproaches. If, by any means we can get the twenty pounds or thereabouts, I will leave the county at once. I can get down to Liverpool, and then I can find some American trader, but I cannot go without money, you see, or else I would not have troubled you.—But if I have any good fortune in the new world, you may depend on my sending it to you and with interest too.'

'Never mind that,' said I, 'never mind that. Meet me here again at this time to morrow evening; and in the mean time I will see what can be done.'

My state of mind can be much easier imagined than described as I walked homeward, for I was at that time most peculiarly situated. I had lost what to me was a considerable sum of money by the insolvency of a man upon whom I had relied, and it was only by the greatest industry, and the most indefatigable exertion, that I could at all hope to meet my own engagements; so that, in fact, I was in so ticklish a position, that a very few pounds abstracted from what was required to fill up some gap or another, would be to me a most serious affair. But what was I to do? could I run the risk of disgrace, which must attach to the very name of Sinclair, if I allowed any exertions to be wanting on my part to save George from the dreadful consequences of his own folly? I resolved to sacrifice myself. I owed much—I owed several little matters, and I had the means of paying, but only just the means—the sum of money in my hands amounted to about fourteen pounds. That was not enough, and although I had not seen them for some time, I resolved to go to my mother and brothers to crave their assistance. I did not consider that I was justified in telling them exactly how the matter stood, but I went to them on the evening, just a little before the hour at which I was to meet George again, and I saw them all. I told them I had reasons to believe it was necessary he should go. I represented that for our own credit's sake, he had better be given the money and go. I knew that to them it would be no use to put the matter in any other light than as a matter of interest, and I exhausted all the rhetoric I was master of. I soon got my answer, and that answer was decisive. I cannot at this distance of time take upon me to say from whose lips it came—I think it was my mother's—Heaven forgive her if it were so. I cannot assert that it was, but the answer came from one of them, and was fully subscribed to by all the rest, and was this:

"There are four of us, and if a farthing each would save George from being hanged, we would not subscribe the penny."

I went away at once. I took all I had myself and handed it to him.

'Go,' said I, 'go at once, for heaven's sake, although this may not be sufficient. Go away from London. Let me know where you are; and if any more is absolutely necessary I will stir heaven and earth to get it for you!'

He took the money—the amount which raised me—and promising to leave London at once, in fact, that he would walk towards Liverpool, getting what cheap lifts he could on the way, and write to me when he got there, stating what amount he would get a passage in one of the American traders for. Now I felt comparatively easy, at all events. I thought there was a chance of his safety, although I knew not which way to turn myself for means, I felt as if a great weight had been lifted off my heart. Alas, only two days passed, when one morning I received notice that he was in the hands of the police at Bow street—that he had given his real name of Sinclair, and had actually had the folly to mention me and my address—thus doing me all the harm he could and himself no good. Well, doctor, I attended his examination. I did all I could, but the whole affair was my destruction for the time—it blighted every prospect I had in the world, and another week saw me arrested for debt, and an inmate of Whitecross street prison, while George lay awaiting his trial at Newgate.

'Nearly ten years have passed away since that time. George pleaded guilty and was transported for life, and gradually I began again to get resources around me. From the time that I visit him in Newgate till this morning I have never seen him.

'This morning, Mr. Sinclair? Did you see him this morning?'

'Yes. He came like an apparition. I could scarcely believe my eyes as he stood before me, and said—

'Well, brother, you see I have come back.—They let me off for eight years instead of life, and I have found my way back. I understand you are pretty well off and are going to be married.'

'George,' I said, 'who would have thought of seeing you?'

'Ah!' he said; 'who indeed! But to business, I expect you to support me now, and if you don't I shall accuse you of having had a guilty knowledge of criminality; and altho' at this distance of time, I don't think anything would be done by the magistrates in the matter, it will ruin you in reputation, mind you. I learnt this dodge in Australia, so you had better put up with it quietly. I intend to live in London and to call upon you and your wife when I like, and I shall expect you to supply me with money.'

'Villain!' I said, 'can you look me in the face and utter these words?'

'Oh yes!' he replied. 'I'll leave you till two o'clock to consider it. If you consent, well and good; if you refuse, I shall go up to Bow street, and make the accusation against you of having known all about it at the time I was transported, and that will be enough to get it into the papers; so you can decide for yourself!'

With that he left me; and I appeal to you whether under such circumstances, I ought to have united myself to Mary Dempsey.

'It is a most sad affair,' I said. 'But let me propose a course to you which is, to obtain some evidence of a disinterested character, to the effect that this is but an attempt to extort money from you. Now if you can hide me somewhere I will listen to what is said.'

That might succeed in frightening him away. There is a cupboard in your corner, into which you can introduce a chair and sit down, so that you will not be uncomfortable.

This plan was duly adopted; and about five minutes before two I took the chair in the cupboard, and waited not a little anxiously for the coming of the convict. He was punctual to the minute, and I heard him say to Mr. Sinclair in a rough insolent tone:

'Well have you decided? I have been on the watch, and you have not left these chambers; so you have had no opportunity to play me any trick?'

'You know I am entirely innocent,' said Mr. Sinclair, 'of any participation in your crime, and that to make an attempt to save you I actually ruined myself at the period.'

'Oh! yes, I know all that. I don't blink the matter in the least. I know you had no more to do with it than the man in the moon but how are you to prove that? You can't deny meeting me at the post-office. You can't deny lending me the note to copy. In fact you can't get out of it, though you had nothing to do with it, so hand over some cash to begin with.'

'Stop!' said I, as I emerged from the cupboard; 'I shall hand you to a policeman, Mr. George Sinclair, and swear to what I have overheard, when I think you will have a very fair chance of being transported again.'

'Blast you!' he said. 'Done at last!'

Then without another word he dashed out of the place.

On that week Mr. Sinclair married Mary Dempsey, whom I made privately acquainted with the circumstances I have narrated beforehand. Her reply was worthy of her.

'What difference,' she said, 'can the criminality of others make in my affection? The misfortune of James Sinclair, in having so unworthy a relative, on the contrary, attaches me stronger to him by the bonds of sympathy. Oh! could he for one moment suppose that such circumstance should make any difference to me!'

I had frequent opportunities of seeing the Sinclairs afterwards, and will say—because I can say it with truth—that a greater share of happiness never fell to the lot of any human being than was theirs. There were all the qualities which have a tendency to insure domestic felicity in the disposition of Mary, and she had by marrying Sinclair the rare good fortune of meeting with a man in every way qualified to appreciate the many excellencies of disposition to which she could so justly lay claim. The vagabond brother was never again heard of.

Summary of News.

WE FIND IN THE CINCINNATI GAZETTE A NOTICE of a moulding for castings in use there, for which a patent is obtained, whereby the most perfect mouldings are made by one hand and a boy, better and faster than six practical moulders can. To foundrymen to whom speedy moulding is important, as well as the saving of room by the reduction of the number of hands, this is the most valuable and economical improvement. The usefulness and perfect adaptation of the method to the purposes designed, has been fully tested in Pittsburgh. The great speed acquired in moulding—its perfectness and saving of expense makes it a most valuable one. We hear the Patentee values the right for this State, (Ohio,) to be worth $20,000. In this city where there is so great activity in the manufacturing business requisite, the matter must prove of great importance." Will not some of our Chicago founders look into this matter?

Mr. Fillmore's Administration.

The last intelligence we have from Washington by regular course of mail, is the announcement that ex-President Fillmore has more gracefully perhaps, than any of his predecessors, retired from the Presidential mansion to give place to his successor, Mr. Pierce. None, we feel assured, ever resigned the cares and duties of the exalted position more willingly, or with a conscience more devoid of offence, than he has—and none certainly, excepting only the immortal Washington himself, retires with such general admiration and esteem, from an enlightened people, amongst all parties and classes, than does MILLARD FILLMORE. May the new President so conduct himself and the affairs of state, as to merit and receive the plaudits that are sure to meet his predecessor at every step he takes through the land, for which he has devoted his best energies to exalt, and make prosperous and happy. By an act of Providence he was called to guide the ship of State when its destruction was threatened by storms and currents more violent and unsteady than she had ever experienced. Drifting before the storm, uncertain where she would be cast, after picking off officers and crew, tried and experienced, he boldly seized the helm, and guided it steadily to a place of safety. The dangers of that storm were known to none better than he whose loss the nation has been called so recently to mourn, and whose prudence and skill were so wisely secured. It was "a time when men, in all sections of the country, were almost ready to forget their duties to the nation and to each other, when discord, already rife in some sections, seemed about to overrun the whole confederacy—when secession was preached as a duty, and disunion boldly and openly talked of, in high places, as a thing rather to be desired than feared—when the forbearance of the most patient was fast giving way, and a collision between the fanatics of the North and the fire-eaters of the South seemed inevitable," the direful consequences of which, not only to the Union but to the world, and universal free government, could scarcely have been foretold. To ride such a storm in safety, and to still such discordant elements, compels us to regard the late administration of Mr. Fillmore as one of "the wisest, most successful and most brilliant the Union has ever enjoyed." So calm and steady has its course been—guided by those cardinal principles of true republicanism, and wise government, which constitute the elements of the whig, and only true democratic party of the Union—that many wonder at the present peaceful and prosperous condition of the country in all its departments. His political enemies may deny this, but the evidences are too many for it to fail to be demonstrated before the whole world. And in regard to our relations with foreign powers, the administration has won their confidence and esteem in so great a degree, that concessions such as were never before made to any government, have been accorded to ours, especially from Great Britain. Intricate questions of the most difficult kind have been settled in a manner highly honorable to American diplomacy, and others of an important character, are left to its successor to adjust, all the preliminaries of which having been favorably arranged. Let them see to it that they are not marred, or the interests of the country jeopardized in their final settlement.

The only especial regret we have in the retiring of the truly whig administration of Mr. Fillmore to give place to the one called into power by the patent democracy, other than the loss of wise and prudent officers is, that the present incumbent had not the race for his position to run with his illustrious predecessor. This test is wanting, or that of a race with his noble premier, to satisfy us that the retiring President or the principles on which his administration was conducted, do not possess the largest share of the confidence of his fellow citizens. It was an evil day, in our estimation, for the whig party and the country, that Daniel Webster or Millard Fillmore failed to receive the nomination for the Presidency—a fatal mistake in regard to their popularity with the people lost us another term.

But whilst we regret that Mr. Fillmore was not in the contest, he is more exalted in our eyes as a man and an officer for steadily refusing to do any thing to influence his nomination. At one time declining absolutely, it was only thro' the earnest and prolonged solicitations of his personal and political friends that he permitted himself to be passive in the matter. The slightest intimation to them that he would be glad to receive the nomination would have secured it. In this, as in all things, wherein he was called to act whilst in the exalted position which he occupied, he was the President—high-minded and dignified, swerving neither to the right or the left from the strict line of duty—casting aside every influence affecting self, lest they might be construed into conflict with honor and duty. It is no doubt, therefore, that he leaves the high position, with all its privileges and emoluments, with a satisfaction which every one feels when having performed faithfully a given duty—one which has been found sufficiently onerous not to have again placed in his hands. To him and his accomplished cabinet do the country owe a debt of gratitude, which we are much mistaken if it does not seek in some measure to wipe out ere the lapse of another four years.

Correspondence of the Tribune.

ALBANY, March 7, 1853.

To the Editors of the Chicago Daily Tribune:

Last week the Railroad Committee of the House listened to several long and able arguments from the counsel employed by the friends and opponents of the Broadway Railroad. The weight of argument appeared to remain with the friends of the corporation, whose counsel, Mr. Field and ex-Chief Justice Jones, demonstrated as clearly and fully as a reasonable man would ask, the necessity and expediency of the proposed road. However it is very doubtful whether the Legislature will give the measure their sanction. The consolidation bill for the uniting the different Railroad corporations between Albany and Buffalo is now under debate. It is opposed on the ground of opposition to monopoly. If passed, the travel between the two points will be cheapened, and the route itself shortened. It is a measure which should excite some interest in the West, for it will certainly give you a safe and sure access to the metropolis of our State. The Engineers employed in the survey of the projected ship canal from Albany to New Baltimore, a distance of fourteen miles, and by the construction of which the shoals in the Hudson will be avoided, so as to enable ships and vessels of heavy tonnage to approach Albany, have reported in favor of the project.—The estimated cost of the canal is $2,500,000.—It is very doubtful, however, whether the project will ever be undertaken, as it is scarcely possible that its completion would benefit our city. It costs little more to pay for the transportation of goods from New York to Albany after their reshipment below, than it would to bring vessels engaged in foreign trade directly to our port. Yet the friends of the project urge in their opinion strenuous reasons for the completion of the work.

The small pox and varioloid are prevailing considerably here, although not to any extent fatally. The weather is very uncertain; one day a snow storm and the next a bright sun and clear sky, betokening the rapid approach of Spring, exciting hopes which are quenched on the morrow by another storm. The River is open from New York to Hudson, and we anticipate an early opening of navigation. Such a result would greatly benefit the enormous lumber interest of Albany. Our city within a few years has become the great lumber depot of this section of the country, and that business offers opportunities at present which few others can rival. Two new Banks are to go into operation shortly. Buildings are now being erected for their accommodation. Where will this sudden increase of the Banking interest end, ask our old Fogies, and perhaps with truthful forebodings of another crash like that of '37. We have six Banks here at present, and it is very questionable whether the addition of two more will prove beneficial. A new Banking law has been reported on in the House. When the debate on it commences I will give you an account of what it proposes to accomplish.

Yours, ALBANY.

Correspondence of the Tribune.

NEW YORK, March 8th, 1853.

Mr. Pease's Sabbath School at the Five Points, N. Y.

To the Editors of the Chicago Tribune:

The Sabbath School at the Five Points! What mind is not at once attracted by the sound of such words in such a juxtaposition? There seems such an incongruity in the ideas which we all have of a Sabbath School, and of the N. York Five Points. The incongruity is confined to the words however. If one is there on the spot, all ideas of incongruity vanish. And if one is on the spot, no such idea is needed to awaken his interest. I have been there as a teacher morning and afternoon, every Sunday since last fall, unless when kept away for a time by sickness or something else, and perhaps I can give you some information about it which will be of interest to your readers.

When I first went there it was small—only some twenty or thirty children. But it has steadily increased, until last Sunday we had over a hundred, of which some twenty or thirty, perhaps, were connected in one way or another with Mr. Pease's Home, for it is of Mr. Pease's Sabbath School that I speak. There is another, there under the charge of the ladies of the Methodist Church, but I do not know so much about it, of course. We have enough to do to take care of our own children, without being over inquisitive or given to comparisons.

Perhaps I could not do better than to give you a sort of a programme—a little history of what we do.

The school opens in the morning at half past nine. Punctually at that hour, Father Burke, an old Irishman who served under Wellington at Waterloo and elsewhere, and who is now fighting the battle of right under Mr. Pease, against worse odds by far, appears at the street door, with a large hand-bell, which he shakes vigorously and long. This operation sometimes calls round him some of the "lewd fellows of the baser sort," who are apt to make fun of him. If they go too far, he stops sometimes and calling another man from the house, gives him orders in a loud voice, to "fetch a policeman and hunt them high-binders out of that." The mere idea of a policeman is enough for the guilty consciences of the "high binders," who separate at once, and Father Burke continues his bell ringing, making way now and then for the ragged urchins, who dodge by him in at the door.—They make their way up stairs into a large room, used as a work room during the week, and seat themselves at once on benches, the boys by themselves at one end of the room, and the girls in the middle of it. The other end is occupied by the adults connected with the Home, who meet for a Bible Class. The children are very orderly, considering. Some of the teachers are always there to keep watch of them and check them, if they talk too loud.—But they are very little different in behavior from the same number of children anywhere.—Some minutes elapse before they all get together, which time is often spent in singing, for they have a great fancy for that, and know a great many hymns and tunes. When they are nearly or quite all collected, our Superintendent hushes them by a tap on a little bell, and after a few remarks, perhaps about prayer, and why we pray, and how we should direct our thoughts during prayer, &c., some one offers up a short prayer ending with the Lord's Prayer, in which all join. All behave with decorum, and seem to appreciate and enter into the prayer as much as children anywhere. Then the classes are called off, and as each one is called, the children file off into another room, generally without more particular direction, unless it is some little one, who does not know where he belongs. Sometimes they sing before going to their classes, and repeat texts which they have learned, altogether. What is done in the classes varies of course with the age and advancement of the scholars. Some of them learn to read, or learn texts and hymns; the larger ones read the Bible, and answer questions about it, or ask them. In fact, there is not much to distinguish the exercises of this from any other Sabbath School. Or perhaps after the lesson is over, the teacher tells some story, or takes some picture card and talks to them about whales or insects, or The Industrious Family, or other things which interest them. After about an hour they collect again in the large room, and there they sing, and some one of the teachers talks to them all, or some visiter makes a few remarks, for hardly a Sabbath passes that we do not have visiters—more often gentlemen from the country, who have heard of the School and come to see it as one of the curiosities of the city, as indeed it is. Then about twelve o'clock they go down stairs in companies, and have a bowl of soup each in the soup room, which to many of them is breakfast and dinner combined. Then they separate till half past one, when the afternoon school commences, the exercises of which are the same, except the soup. After school in the afternoon, there is generally a sermon preached to all the inmates of the Home, and as many of the children as choose can stay, which a good many do. They are quite regular in their attendance, and punctual too—much more so than I had expected to find them. In fact, I have been agreeably disappointed in them—have found less annoyance and vexation than I had expected. Unpleasant things one must meet with, of course. A boy came into my class one day, quite excited with liquor. He was perhaps fourteen years old, and under the influence of the liquor was very mischievous and troublesome. That however, was an isolated case. I have generally found them quite orderly and respectful, and desirous to learn. Indeed, they often seem precociously intelligent, which arises doubtless from their way of life, and early contact with the world. Poor things! they have a hard time of it, any way. I have become greatly interested in many of them, and should be sorry to have to leave them.

But I must close this letter now, not for lack of things to tell, however. I am rather oppressed by the multitude of things which I want to say, but I must reserve them till another opportunity. Yours, R.

RAIL ROAD RECORD, or Journal of Commerce, Manufactures, &c.

This is a new weekly published at Cincinnati. The first number is just received, and its appearance and matter promise for it a large circulation. There is need of such a paper at the West, and our Southern neighbor has got ahead of us. We shall welcome its weekly arrival and recommend its circulation.

We have already shaken hands, in thought and sympathy, with Mr. Mansfield, the excellent Editor, over a work of his issued awhile since, on "American Education." The high principles and true philosophy of that book placed it in the foreground of our library. We were not prepared to see him introduced to us again at the head of a Railroad Journal. Success to his timely and promising enterprise.

RUTH—A Novel by the Author of Mary Barton, published by Ticknor, Reed & Fields, Boston, Sold by A. H. & C. BURLEY, Chicago.

This book is written in a pleasing style, and has an excellent moral. It tells us of the temptations and sorrows of the gentle loving Ruth, who in an evil hour was led astray, but lived again in purity and piety. The author shows in a forcible manner how much a little charity can lighten the sin-burdened spirit, in contrast with that false religion and morality which, by withholding the hand of love and kindness, causes the erring to sink still lower in hopeless misery. The work is an English one, and the scene is laid in England. It has already gained for itself a wide reputation, and the name of the Publishing House is enough to show that it does not belong to the yellow covered literature.

COST OF LIVING AT FLORENCE.—A correspondent of the Boston Traveller, states, chiefly for the benefit of artists who visit Florence in pursuit of their studies, that the lowest amount for which they can live there is about sixty cents per day, divided as follows:—For five cents per day they can hire a chamber furnished with the essentials; breakfast on six cents, and dine on sixteen. The Academy provides instruction gratis; the public galleries are equally free for studies, so that there remains more than half of the above sum for other necessaries. Mr. Powers hires for $220 a year a house, studio and garden, which correspondingly situated in one of our cities, would cost him not less than $3,500.

Important debate in the English House of Commons.

We have before us the London Times, containing a full report of the Madiai debate.—It occupies eight columns of that sheet, and there are few who would not read all of it without thought of weariness. We annex the condensed form of it, as we find it in the N. Y. Tribune. We shall give on Monday the excellent editorial of the Times upon the debate.

On Thursday the 17th, Mr. Kinnaird moved an address, praying Her Majesty to take steps for bringing under the notice of the Grand Duke of Tuscany, the strong feelings prevailing in England in consequence of the persecution in Tuscany of those who profess the principles of the Protestant religion. The case of the Madiai, he observed, was not an isolated one. It indicated a religious reaction, and a determination on the part of the hierarchy of the Church of Rome to put down Protestantism by force wherever the civil power enabled them to do so; and on this ground he asked the house to call upon Her Majesty's Government; in concert with the Governments of Prussia and Holland, to remonstrate, not dictatorially or menacingly, but in the name of religion and humanity, with the Grand Duke. He gave the details of the arrest of several Florentines for no other offence than reading the Bible, to show that the persecution was systematic; thousands, he said, living in Tuscany, under a reign of terror. The objection that this being a matter between a Government and its own subjects, we had no right to interfere, had been disposed of in the admirable dispatch of Lord John Russell, and precedents were not wanting for such interference.

Lord D. Stuart seconded the motion, justifying the peaceable interference of this country, which ought, he said, as a Protestant nation, to raise its voice against the persecutions of Protestants. He did not attribute this intolerable spirit so much to the Grand Duke of Tuscany, or even to the Pope, as to the despotic principles of the Austrian Government, which domineered in Tuscany.

Mr. Lucas could not agree with the resolution, because, according to the papers laid before the House, it did not state the facts of the case correctly. It appeared from these papers that the Madiais had engaged in a system of proselytism at the bidding and instigation of foreign emissaries and agents. The sentence against them declared that they had not disproved the facts alleged against them; that they had been guilty of the crime of proselytism by the instrumentality of money supplied from abroad—that was from England. But admitting, for the sake of argument, that the Tuscan Government were to be blamed for punishing the Madiais for the crime of proselytism, what had been the conduct of this country in respect to Roman Catholics prosecuted in different parts of the world? Who ever heard of our Secretary of State remonstrating with the Emperor of Russia for persecuting and torturing Roman Catholic nuns? Had not Lord Palmerston actualy recommended the expulsion of Jesuits from Switzerland? The conduct of that noble lord in the case of Tahiti was he contended, exactly paralled with that of the Grand Duke of Tuscany. If he believed that the resolution expressed the facts of the case, he could not adopt it, because he never could recognized the doctrine that the exercise of humanity and philanthropy was to be all on one side. At this moment acts of persecution were going on against Roman Catholics in Protestant countries quite as deserving of our interference as the case of the Madiais, and he should bring some of them before the House. The system of law in Sweden was quite as persecuting as that of Tuscany, and in Mecklenburgh Catholic priests had been conducted by the police across the frontier for the crime of saying mass in private.

Lord John Russell professed himself totally at a loss to know whether Mr. Lucas approved or not of the persecution for religious opinions.—His (Lord John's) conclusion was, that if a Protestant state should condemn persons because they had become Roman Catholics, or taught others to become so, such conduct was morally wrong. Mr. Lucas alleged that the Madiais were punished, not because they had become Protestants, but that being Protestants, they endeavored to convert others to Protestantism at the instigation of a foreign agent; whereas the foreign agent had left the country, and the Madiais had followed their own convictions. But, be it as the Tuscan tribunals said, that those individuals had endeavored to induce Roman Catholics to read the Bible, and to believe that certain doctrines were not authorised by the Bible, he still said it was a moral crime to punish them. Mr. Lucas had said we were not justified in considering ourselves friends of religious liberty while we were indifferent to prosecutions against Roman Catholics. But it could not be maintained that such was our general conduct; in no part of our dominions were persons punished for endeavoring to induce Protestants to become Roman Catholics. Having vindicated Lord Palmerston from the charge of countenancing religious persecution in Switzerland, the South Seas, and Sweden, he insisted that the Government of this country had done nothing which misbecame it in the representations it had addressed to that of Tuscany. Persecution for religious opinions was odious and detestable, and the Government of England was justified in raising its voice against it. Holding this opinion, he recommended the House to leave this case in the hands of the Government. Its voice had been heard, and he trusted that, although the Madiais and others might suffer, the general opinion of the world would secure religious liberty.

After a few words from Mr. Bowyer and Mr. Drammond, Mr. J. Fitzgerald said, that as a Roman Catholic, he disapproved of the punishment of these persons, and he should ever raise his voice against persecution of every kind. Lord Stanley, Sir R. Inglis, and Mr. Kennedy spoke briefly on the question.

Lord Palmerston repelled the imputations cast upon him by Mr. Lucas, in respect to the expulsion of the Jesuits from Switzerland, and to the transactions at Tahiti. He complained that that honorable member had made a partial representation of the facts in the former case; and in the latter the noble lord justified the treatment of the Roman Catholic Priests who went, he said, to disturb the tranquility of an island already pacified, for the purpose of turning Protestants into Catholics, instead of endeavoring to turn heathens into Christians. Those Priests had, however, not been put into "comfortable prisons," like the Madiais, but had been merely told to go about their business.

TO PLOUGH MAKERS.—We direct attention to the following encouragement for the establishment of a Plough manufactory at Mt. Carroll in this state, which we find in the Republican printed in that flourishing town:

PLOUGH FACTORY.—There is no branch of manufacturing so much required here as that of Agricultural implements, and especially plows. Every article used in Carroll county, in this line, is imported from abroad, while there is not a richer soil or more industrious, thriving population, under the sun than ours. There is every facility, too, for manufacturing advantageously. We have a great abundance of hydraulic power—good timber—immediate access to the Mississippi River, by which can be obtained coal, iron and every article required in the prosecution of this business. There are inducements offered in this branch, which should claim the immediate attention of our mechanics. There can be no less than $10,000 expended annually by the farmers of our county for plows. This amount should be retained here, and its influence upon our business and social relations would be very apparent in a short time.

☞ "How do you manage your husband, Mrs. Croaker? Such a job as I have of it with Smith!"

"Easiest thing in the world, my dear; give him a twitch backward when you want him to go forward. For instance, you see, to-day I had a loaf of cake to make. Well, do you suppose because my body is in the pastry room that my soul need be there too? Not a bit of it. I am thinking of all sorts of celestial things the while. Now, Croaker has a way of tagging round at my heels, and bringing me plump down, in the midst of my aerial flights, by asking me the "price of the sugar I'm using." Well, you see it drives me frantic! and when I woke up this morning and saw this furious storm, I knew I had him on my hands for the day, unless I managed right; so I told him that I hoped he would'nt think of going out to catch his death such weather; that if he wan't capable of taking care of himself, I should do it for him; that it was very lonesome rainy days, and that I wanted him to stay at home and talk to me; at any rate he must'nt go out, and I hid his umbrella, and india rubbers. Well, of course, he was right end up; (just as I expected!) and in less than five minutes was streaking off down street, at the rate of ten knots an hour.

You see there's nothing like human nature; no woman should be married till she is thoroughly posted up in this branch of her education. FANNY FERN.

PRINTERS RISING IN THE WORLD.—It is gratifying to learn that our brother type of the Fort Smith Herald, John F. Wheeler, Esq., has been elected Judge of the Probate Court of Sebastian County. We hope Judge Wheeler will bear his honors with meekness, and discharge the duties of his distinguished station to the satisfaction and benefit of his constituents.—Little Rock Gazette and Democrat.

Rising in the world, indeed. Do you call that rising in the world, Mr. Woodruff? Why, we knew a printer, a year or two ago, who left the post of a sovereign State, in order to go to work in his printing office. That's what we call "rising in the world." Printers stand on a height, than which there is none higher, which over-looks the world, and from which they shine down alike upon the thrones of Kings and Emperors, the chairs of Presidents, and the puncheon benches of Arkansas Probate Judges. It won't be long before people will say of brother Wheeler—"Poor fellow! he has seen better days."—Memphis Eagle.

SATURDAY EVENING READINGS.

The First Snow-Fall.

BY JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL.

[This is one of the most beautiful pieces we have ever read. It would stamp its author a true poet, had he written nothing else;]

The snow had begun in the gloaming,
And busily all the night
Had been heaping field and highway
With a silence deep and white.

Every pine and fir and hemlock
Wore ermine too dear for an earl;
And the poorest twig on the hemlock
Was ridged inch-deep with pearl.

From sheds, new-roofed with Carrara,
Came Chanticleer's muffled crow;
The stiff rails were softened to swan's down,
And still fluttered down the snow.

I thought of a mound in sweet Auburn,
Where a little head-stone stood;
How the flakes were folding it gently,
As did robins the babes in the wood.

Up spoke our little Mabel,
Saying, "Father, who makes it snow?"
And I told of the good All-Father,
Who cares for us all below.

Again I looked at the snow-fall,
And thought of the leaden sky,
That arched o'er our first great sorrow,
When that mound was heaped so high.

I remember the gradual patience
That fell from that cloud like snow;
Flake by flake healing and hiding
The scar of that deep-stabbed woe.

And again to the child I whispered,
"The snow that visiteth all,
Darling, the Merciful Father
Alone can make it fall!"

Then with eyes that saw not I kissed her,
And she, kissing back, could not know
That my kiss was given to her sister,
Folded close 'neath the deepening snow!

Just Views of Sabbath-Keeping.

Hugh Miller, in his First Impressions of England, makes the following just and important remarks on the mode of Sabbath keeping recommended by our modern refinery. We commend them to our city readers:

"Among the exciting varieties of the genus philanthropist—benevolent men bent on bettering the condition of the masses—there is a variety who would fain send out our working people to the country on Sabbath, to become happy and innocent in smelling primroses, and stringing daisies on grass stalks. An excellent scheme theirs, if they but knew it, for sinking a people into ignorance and brutality: for filling country with gloomy workhouses, and the workhouses with unhappy paupers. 'Tis pity rather that the institution of the Sabbath in its economic bearings should not be better understood by the utilitarian. The problem which it furnishes is not particularly difficult if one could be but made to understand, as a first step in the process, that it is really worth solving. The mere animal, that has to pass six days of the week in hard labor benefits greatly by a seventh day of mere animal rest and enjoyment. The repose, according to its nature, proves of signal use to it, just because it is repose according to its nature, But man is not a mere animal; what is best for the ox and the ass, is not best for him; and in order to degrade him into a poor unintellectual slave, over whom tyranny in its caprice may tremple rough shod, it is but necessary to tie him down, animal like, during his six working days, to hard, engrossing labor, and to convert the seventh into a day of frivolous unthinking relaxation. History speaks with much emphasis on the point. The old despotic Stuarts were tolerable adepts in the art of king-craft, and knew well what they were doing, when they backed with their authority the Book of Sports. The many unthinking serfs, who early in the reign of Charles I., danced on Sabbath round the may-pole, were afterwards the ready tools of despotism, and fought that England might be enslaved. The Ironsides, who in the cause of civil and religious freedom, love their crown, were staunch Sabbatarians.

"In no history, however, is the value of the Sabbath more strikingly illustrated, than in that of the Scotch people, during the seventeenth, and the larger portion of the eighteenth centuries. Religion and the Sabbath were their sole instructors, and this in times so little favorable to the cultivation of mind, so darkened by persecution and stained with blood, that, in at least the earlier of these centuries, we derive our knowledge of the character and amount of popular intelligence, mainly from the death testimonies of our humble martyrs, here and there corroborated by the incidental evidence of writers, such as Burnet. In these noble addresses from the prison and scaffold—the composition of men drafted by oppression almost at random from the general mass—we see how vigorously our Presbyterian people had learned to think, and how well to give their thinking expression. In the quieter times which followed the Revolution, and Scottish peasantry existed as at once the most provident and intellectual in Europe; and a moral and instructed people pressed outward beyond the narrow bounds of their country, and rose into offices of trust and importance, in all the nations of the world. There were no societies for the diffusion of useful knowledge in those days. But the Sabbath was kept holy it was a day of which every dissipating frivolity was excluded by a stern sense of duty. The popular mind, with weight imparted to it by the pulpit addresses of the day, expatiated on matters of grave import, of which the tendency was to concentrate and strengthen, not scatter and weaken the faculties; and the secular cogitations of the week came to bear in consequence a Sabbath day stamp of depth and solidity.—The one in the seven struck the tone for the other six. Our modern apostles of popular instruction rear up no such men among the masses as were developed under the Sabbatarian system in Scotland. Their aptest pupils prove but the loquacious gabblers of their respective worship—shallow superficialists, that bear on the surface of their minds a thin diffusion of ill-remembered facts and crude theories; and scarcely, indeed, do we see them rising in the scale of society; they become Socialists by hundreds, and Chartists by thousands, and get no higher. The disseminator of mere useful knowledge takes aim at the popular ignorance; but his inapt and unscientific gunnery does not include in its calculations the parabolic course of man's spiritual nature; and so, aiming direct at the mark, he aims too low, and the charge falls short.'

The Dead Wife.

In comparison with the loss of a wife, all other earthly bereavements are trifling. The wife! she who fills so large a space in the domestic heaven—she who is so busied, so unwearied in laboring for the precious ones around her—bitter, bitter is the tear that falls on her cold clay! You stand by her coffin and think of the past. It seems an amber colored pathway, where the sun shone upon beautiful flowers, or the stars hung glittering overhead. Fain would the soul linger there. No thorns are remembered above that sweet clay, save those your own hand may unwittingly have Planted. Her noble, tender heart, lies open to your inmost sight. You think of her now as all gentleness, all beauty and purity. But she is dead! The dear head that laid upon your bosom, rests in still darkness, upon a pillow of clay. The hands that have ministered so untiringly, are folded, white and cold, beneath the gloomy portals. The heart, whose every beat measured an eternity of love, lies under your feet. The flowers she bent over with smiles, bend now above her with tears, shaking the dew from their petals, that the verdure around her may be kept green and beautiful.

Many a husband may read this in the silence of a broken home. There is no white arm over your shoulder; no speaking face to look up into the eye of love; no trembling lips to murmur "O, it is so sad."

The little one whose nest death has rifled, gazes in wonder at your solemn face, puts up his little hand to stay the tears, and then nestles back to its father's breast, half conscious that the wing that sheltered it most fondly is broken.

There is so strange a hush in every room! no light footstep passing round. No smile to greet you at nightfall. And the old clock ticks and strikes, and strikes and ticks—it was such music when she could hear it! Now it seems to knell only the hours through which you watched the shadows of death gathering upon her sweet face.

It strikes one—the fatal time when the death warrant rang out, "There is no hope!" Two! she lies placid still—sometimes smiling faintly, sometimes grieving a little, for she is young to tread the valley of the shadow. Three! The babe has been brought in, its little face laid on her bosom for the last time. Four! Her breath comes fainter, but a heavenly joy irradiates her brow. Five! There is a slight change—O! that she might live! Father, spare her! "Thy will be done."

It was her soft, broken accents. Yes, heavenly Friend, who gavest her to bless me—Thy will be done!

Six! There are footsteps near—weeping friends around. She bids them farewell, as she murmurs, "Meet me in heaven!" The damp-drops gather upon her pallid features at the seventh hour. She lies very still—sometimes she hears sweet music. Eight! passing away so gently.

But her hand yet clings to yours, and so she dies while that old house-clock tolls forth nine—ten— eleven—twelve solemn strokes. You spring to your feet. The lips are still—cold to your lips. The hand has fallen back; its touch grown icy. She is gone. She will never speak to you again on earth. You must bear that cold gaze that love so lately kindled—and you fall weeping by her side.

And every day the clock repeats that old story. Many another tale telleth too—of joys past, of sorrows shared, of beautiful words and deeds that are registered above. You feel—O, how often—that the grave cannot keep her. You know she is in a happier world, yet that sometimes she is by your side, an angel presence. You look at your innocent babe, and think that a seraph is guarding it. Cherish these emotions; they will make you happier. Let her holy presence be as a charm to keep you from evil. In all new and pleasant connexions, give her spirit a place in your heart. Never forget what she has been to you—that she has loved you. Be tender of her memory—so may you meet her with a soul unstained—a bright and beautiful spirit-bride, where no one shall say any more forever "She is dead."

LOCAL MATTERS.

Religious Notices.

☞ The Rev. J. R. BALME will preach to-morrow in the Third Baptist Church, 170 Clark St.

☞ Rev. Mr. HIBBARD'S second discourse concerning open intercourse with Spirits, will be given at the New Church Rooms to-morrow evening at half past seven o'clock.

☞ The second quarterly Conference for this Conference year, will be held at the Methodist Protestant Chapel on the West side. Services commenced on Friday evening and will continue thrugh the ensuing Sabbath Rev. Mr. MARTIN, President of the North Ills. District, and other Ministers are expected to be in attendance.

TRINITY CHURCH.—The Rev. HENRY A. NEELY will officiate on Sunday next, morning and evening, at the usual hours.

☞ The FAIR and SUPPER given by the Ladies of the 3d Presbyterian Church on Thursday evening last was well attended, and we are gratified to learn that upwards of $250 were realized to aid in the support of the Church.

CHICAGO AND ROCK ISLAND RAILROAD.—The cars on this road were run to Lasalle on Thursday last, and returned the same evening, having made the run in good time, giving such of our citizens as went out on the occasion a good time whilst there, and all returned in good time. We can now touch the Illinois river by rail, which will enable us all to have a good time for all time to come.

The good people of Lasalle know how to value the benefit conferred on them by the opening of this Road through to their town. When the first train arrived on Thursday, all the townspeople were astir, a salute was fired, and a sumptuous dinner was provided at the Hardy House. The ladies were not behind in their enthusiasm, and presented the Company with a white flag to commemorate the occasion.

FIRE.—The fire this morning which occurred about 2 o'clock, was on the premises of Mr. C. Morgan, Cabinet Maker, on Lake between Wells and Franklin Streets. It destroyed his lumber shed containing about $600 worth of seasoned and choice stuff, which probably cannot be replaced immediately for double this sum. In many respects, we regret to learn, it is a serious loss to Mr. Morgan. The flames extended to the rear of several buildings on Wells and Randolph Streets, belonging to Mr. A. Lloyd, injuring them and the outbuildings to the amount of some two or three hundred dollars. As there was no light or fire used of any kind in the building, the loss was no doubt occasioned by an incendiary; and situated as the building was, surrounded by others of the most combustible nature, the intention evidently must have been to fire the whole neighborhood, and it is remarkable so little damage was done.

THE NEW COURT HOUSE.—The building committee presented their report on the building of the new Court House to the board of Supervisors yesterday, and the same was accepted.—The total outlay has already been about $103,000. When completed the total cost will be between $136,000 to $140,000.

☞ The laying of the water pipes across the river at the foot of State street, was nearly completed yesterday. The operation has been under the able direction of E. W. Smith, Esq., Superintending Engineer of the Water Works.—The pipes are laid three feet below the bottom of the river, and well protected from anchors by stone and gravel.

☞ We observe that most of the canal boats are loosed from their winter moorings near to Clark street. We understand that they are passing through a thorough repair, and being decorated, preparatory to spring operations.

☞ As an instance of the confidence that people abroad have in Chicago Railroads, we may mention that a few days ago, a gentleman received an order from a capitalist in St. Augustine, Florida, to subscribe for several thousand dollars of stock in the Fox River Valley Railroad.

AIR LINE ROAD.—The books for subscribing stock in this Road will be open for this day only, at G. S. Hubbard's office, No. 12 Wells street. This evening they will be closed, and on Monday the election of Directors will take place at St. Charles.

We notice that a large number of our citizens have subscribed for stock in the Air Line Road, and the news from Kane, De Kalb, Ogle, Carroll and Jo Davies, is favorable.

SOUTH WATER STREET.—The least approach to a thaw fills South Water street with water and mud. It is anything but cheering for the most important business men in the city to have the prospect of mud almost constantly before their eyes and about their feet. It is most evident to all that the grading of Water street is at least twenty inches too low, and it is equally evident that no improvement in the city is more needed than the complete re-grading of the whole of Water street. The eastern portion of it is at the present time, in an almost impassable condition. If a few of our spirited citizens, holding property in that vicinity, would vigorously take the matter in hand, the whole alteration might easily and in a short time be accomplished.

THE NEW LICENSE LAW.—The Board of Supervisors decided yesterday, that the amount of License under the new Law to be $50. The old law will regulate the proceedings respecting the same.

WALKER'S IMPROVEMENT ON THE LAKE SHORE.—This work is progressing with great rapidity;—already piles are driven, and a space inclosed, the width of Mr. Walker's property, near a thousand feet from Michigan Avenue. On one side a solid road has been made to the end of the works. By the 1st of May it is expected to be ready for use as a dock; and from it, vessels will be loaded and unloaded. The storm a few days ago rendered great assistance, as it filled the whole inclosure fully two feet with sand. A number of such piers made along the shore, would soon recover a large quantity of land from the Lake.

☞ We find in a late Syracuse Daily Journal the following highly complimentary notice of WM. A. GROVES, Esq., who has selected Chicago as his future residence. We are happy to welcome such men:

"It will be seen by reference to our advertising columns, that our young friend Wm. A. Groves, Esq., formerly of Baldwinsville, has entered into a partnership with Calvin DeWolf, Esq., and is now practising law at Chicago, Illinois. Mr. G. was a resident of Baldwinsville for some time, and while there acquired an enviable reputation as a lawyer and a citizen. He has fine legal talents, and a well cultivated mind, and will be well known and felt wherever he is.—Those having legal business to be transacted at the West, can not do better than place it in his hands."

NEW PIANO STORE.—Messrs. Reed & Watkins, experienced dealers in Pianos from the East, have recently opened a Depot in this city, where can be found at all times Pianos manufactured by the most celebrated makers in the country, of all sizes, tone and finish, and in price ranging from $200 to $800. Any of our citizens wanting a good instrument, will, we feel assured, find it to their advantage to give Messrs. Reed & Watkins a call. See their advertisement.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, NORTH SIDE.—Rev. J. C. Holbrook, late of Dubuque, commences his pastoral labors in our city to-morrow. For the present he will preach in the afternoon at the North Market Hall.

MILLINERY.—Mrs. Thomas (successor to Mrs. Gale, 163 Lake St.,) has just received a new and full assortment of goods, and invites her friends to call and see. The new patterns and styles are reported to be very tasteful.

We would call attention to the Land Sale at Clark & Harding's Rooms this morning. The sale will commence at 10 o'clock precisely.

Earnings of the M. C. R. R., for February, 1853:—

	Passengers.	Freight.	Miscel's.	Total.
1853	15,087 59	20,933 05	4,025 00	40,045 92

Increase	1,026 28	6,851 42	4,025 00	11,902 70

Earnings for the First Quarter of the Fiscal Year of the Company, ending February 28th, as compared with same time last year:—

	Passengers.	Freight.	Miscel's.	Total.
1853	[illegible] 47	78,164 [illegible]	4,035 00	141,964 [illegible]
1852	[illegible] 92	45,592 [illegible]	306 00	84,179 [illegible]
	[illegible] 55	32,571 06	3,729 00	57,[illegible]

Being an average increase over last year of about 67 ⅌ct.

☞ The above statement, says the Detroit Advertiser, speaks well for the business of the Michigan Central Railroad Company. It appears that the increase for the first quarter of 1853, over the corresponding time of last year, is 67 per cent. And when we consider that little or no through travel passes over this line, at this season, and the active competition of the M. S. R. R. Company, whose connexions have been for sometime completed around the south shore of Lake Erie, it furnishes undeniable evidence of great increase of local travel and general prosperity of the agricultural interests, as shown by increased transportation of freight, to a degree but little contemplated by the most credulous.

CHICAGO MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE, }
Friday Evening, March 11—7 P. M. }

Receipts of Produce, during the last three days, have been more liberal, and the market manifests more animation than it has for two weeks. There is, however, no change in the price of any of the leading staples, unless it be that Corn is a shade lower. Wheat is taken more freely both for store and milling—the best qualities for the latter. Barley is in fair demand, for local consumption, and the market is firm.—Rye is in limited demand, but firm. Oats do not arrive in sufficient quantity to satisfy the local consumptive demand, and prices are several cents advanced on warehouse rates. Hogs do not come forward freely, and the demand for individual use, and the city market keeps up prices.

Butter is heavier, and sales show a decline. Eggs do.—Poultry is scarce, and sales show high rates.

We notice sales and prices as follows:

WHEAT.—Sales of common spring to warehouse at 60c, fair and good to mills at 69@70c. Also 780 bu winter, in lots, at 69@70c.

RYE.—Distillers offer 60c ₩ 60 lbs, but there is none offering.

BARLEY.—There is a fair local demand, and sales to brewers are made at 48@50c.

CORN.—Distillers refuse to pay over 40c ₩ 60 lbs, and holders have acceded. We notice sales at this figure.

OATS.—Sales embrace 600 bushels, for local consumption, at 32c ₩ bu. The receipts are not above the local demand, and prices rule 3c ₩ bu above warehouse rates.

TIMOTHY SEED.—Sales at $3 ₩ bu for a good article on Eastern account. Ordinary lots, $1.75@1.87c.

HOGS.—Good lots for city market, $6.25 ₩ 100 lbs. The ruling rates are $6@6.25.

BUTTER.—Sales show a decline. Good firkin and roll not over 18@16c ₩ lb.

EGGS.—Dull at 12c ₩ dozen.

POULTRY.—Dressed Chickens are scarce and command 20@25c each; Turkeys 9@10c ₩ lb. Grouse and Quails are not offering.

POTATOES.—Small lots from teams sell at 44@50c according to quality. There is not an active market.

SALT.—Trade not large. Holders ask $1 ₩ bbl.

In other matters there is no change.

NEW YORK MARKET—March 11—3 P. M.

Flour—No change to note in our market for western and State. Demand moderate and more restricted. Being very stormy weather, there are few sellers at $4.75, at which it would sell freely for export. TO THE MERCHANTS OF CHICAGO.

THE undersigned would call the attention of the Merchants and business men of Chicago, to the superior advantages offered for advertising their business through the columns of the Knox County News Letter, published at Galesburg, Ill. As it has an extensive and very good circulation, the thickly settled and rich counties comprising the Military Tract, it is believed to be the best medium by which business men can make themselves known to the numerous dealers in that section.

FORT WAYNE AND CHICAGO RAILROAD.

Books for the subscription to the capital Stock of this Company are now opened and to be kept open during the present week at the Tremont House, in this city, when those desirous, are requested to call.

This Road, from Fort Wayne to Chicago, one hundred and fifty miles long, with capital stock authorized of Two and one Half Millions Dollars, is the last link in the chain of Railways direct from Philadelphia, through Pittsburgh, Harrisburgh, Canton, Massillon, Wooster, Mansfield and Fort Wayne to this city. As a great through route from Chicago to the Atlantic cities, it compares favorably with any other in distance, grades, and local traffic, and is regarded by capitalists as one of the best opportunities afforded for investment.

The entire distance from Philadelphia to Fort Wayne, will be completed this year. The preliminary surveys thence to Chicago, are made, and the Engineers are now employed in final location, so as to place it under contract this Spring, with the view of the earliest possible completion.

All the necessary Legislation is obtained from the States of Indiana and Illinois, forming a joint Stock Company from Fort Wayne to Chicago.

No efforts have yet been made to secure stock subscriptions away from the line of Road, believing it to be the interest of western men to take stock in this Road. In justice to the citizens of Chicago the opportunity is now offered to all who will avail themselves of the privilege. The Company have the assurance from the east that any deficiency that is not made up along the line of Road, will be supplied there.

SAM'L HANNA, President.

M'LANE'S WORM VERMIFUGE.—The following order shows at once the demand for and the excellence of this great medicine. Certificates have been so multiplied in favor of this Vermifuge, that we consider it unnecessary to add any more.

BOONVILLE, Ind., June 3, 1851.

Messrs. J. KIDD & Co.—Your agent, when here, left with us 12 dozen bottles M'Lane's Vermifuge, which is nearly all sold. Please send quickly 12 dozen more, as we do not want to get out of it; for we consider it the best Vermifuge ever used in this part of the country.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15, 1853.

MR. SOLOMONS:—From infancy I have been afflicted with weak eyes and short sightedness, and in all my travels I have never been able to get a pair of glasses that would help me. I have had several pairs that would enable me to see distinctly, but could never keep them on more than one half hour, from the fact that they caused such great pain.

I happened to see your advertisement, by which I saw you had just imported some, and it has been my constant aim to get a pair that would benefit me, thought I would try yours.

You must not think me flattering when I say they more than answer my expectations. I have not been able to read by candle light for more than half an hour at any time before I got these glasses. Since I got these I read one Sunday all day, and until ten o'clock, without experiencing the least pain, which is a thing I have not done for years.

I say this much, as I think it deserving your enterprise, and hoping others may be benefitted by it.

You are at liberty to make use of my name at any time for reference. I am, sir, yours truly,

J. B. PARSONS.

P. S. I forgot to mention that my wife is greatly benefitted by the pair she got, and equally pleased. PARSONS.

CHICAGO, Jan. 14, 1853.

MR. SOLOMONS: Dear Sir—I am happy to express to you my thanks and acknowledgements for the benefit I have derived from the Spectacles which I obtained from you. They suit me perfectly in every respect and though as strong as prudence would allow me to select, they have never caused the least pain or strain upon the eyes, such as spectacles which I have formerly worn have done. I can now see all common distances by candle light, as well as by daylight, with the same ease as when a boy, and which I could not do with any other spectacles I have yet worn. I have now worn your glasses for three weeks, and avail myself of this opportunity to testify to you how satisfactory to me has been my experience of your skill as an optician.

Yours truly, JOHN E. McGIRR, M. D., L. L. D., Late Professor of Physiology and Chemistry, in the University of the Lake, and now one of the Surgeons to the Illinois General Hospital of the Lake. [illegible]

CELEBRATED PANACEA.

INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION,

Scrofula, General Debility, White Swelling, Rheumatism Diseases of the Liver and Skin, and all Diseases arising from impurities of the Blood, and the effects of Mercury.

SWAIM'S PANACEA has been for more than thirty years celebrated in this country and in Europe for its extraordinary cures—for the certificates of which reference is made to the directions and books (which may be had gratis) accompanying the Panacea. Some of which give the particulars of cases too frightful for general publication, where the patients had been almost eaten up with Scrofula, and were deemed incurable by Physicians.

It has been used in hospitals and private practice, and has had the singular fortune of being recommended by the most celebrated physicians and other eminent persons. Among others by—

W. Gibson, M. D., Prof. of Surgery, Pa. University.
Valentine Mott, M. D., Prof. of Surgery, N. Y. University.
W. P. Dewees, M. D., Prof. of Mid., Pa. University.
N. Chapman, M. D., Prof. of Physic, Pa. University.
T. Parke, M. D., Pres't College of Physicians, Phila.
Dr. Del Vallo, Professor of Medicine, Havana.
Jose Eourenco de Luz, Prof. of Surgery, Lisbon.
J. Chipman, Member Royal College Surgeons, London.
G. W. Irving, late Minister to Spain.
Sir Thomas Pearson, Major General British Army.
Gilbert Robertson, British Consul, &c., &c.

And also, the wonderful cures effected by Swaim's Panacea have for many years made it an invaluable remedy. The Panacea does not contain Mercury in any form, and being an innocent preparation, it may be given to the most tender infant.

The retail price has been reduced to $1.50 per bottle, (containing three half pints) or three bottles for $4.

Beware of Imposition.

Swaim's Panacea is in round bottles, fluted longitudinally, with the following letters blown on the glass:—

"SWAIM'S—PANACEA—PHILADA."

and having the name of JAS SWAIM stamped on the sealing wax, and written on the label covering the cork, and a splendid engraving for the side of the bottle, composed of geometric lathe work, comprising nine different dies, which have been turned for the exclusive use of the proprietor, by Draper & Co., bank note engravers, of Philadelphia. In the centre is a portrait of the late Wm. Swaim, copyright secured.

Also, Swaim's Vermifuge.

A valuable Family Medicine, being a highly approved remedy for all diseases arising from debility of the digestive organs, such as Worms, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Fever and Ague, Bleeding Piles, Sick Headache, &c., &c. See the Pamphlet (which may be had gratis) accompanying the Vermifuge.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

Persons wishing to obtain the genuine SWAIM'S PANACEA and SWAIM'S VERMIFUGE, should be careful to observe that the name SWAIM is spelled correctly on the bottles and labels, or they may be imposed on by medicines made in imitation of them by a person bearing a somewhat similar name, well calculated to deceive.

A NATIONAL WORK.

THE WORKS OF JOHN C. CALHOUN, to be handsomely printed in Octavo Volumes. The following will be the order of publication:

1. On the Constitution and Government of the United States. (Now ready.)
2. Speeches in Congress.
3. Diplomatic papers and Correspondence.
4. His Life.

CALHOUN, CLAY, and WEBSTER are three names which will long be venerated by American citizens. Of the three, Calhoun, during the early part of his life, was perhaps the greatest favorite with the people. His highly cultivated mind, profound views of government, and his pure character, gave great weight and importance to his opinions with all parties. Of the writings and speeches of American statesmen, there are scarcely any who bear so directly upon the great measures adopted by our Government, during the last forty years, as those of the lamented Calhoun. The War, the Revenue System, the Currency, and States Rights, were subjects upon which he took a leading position, and greatly aided the decisions which were made on them. With those who took an interest in our national history, the value of the writings of our public men cannot be too highly estimated.

The works of Calhoun will follow each other rapidly from the press. All who are desirous of procuring them are invited to call at 111 Lake street, and subscribe without delay. Terms—$2,00 per volume. Volume 1st, just received by

LOCK HOSPITAL.

No. 150 Washington Street.

THE ONLY CERTAIN REMEDY FOR THE CURE OF Secret Diseases at 150 Washington street. By the strict system established at the Lock Hospital, 150 Washington st., all patients are secure of absolute privacy. The advantages of this system are too well known to need any comment. All who have any need of advice or attention from Dr. D., may confide in him with a full assurance of secrecy and certain hope of recovery. Some of the most learned and famous men in the country have been under his charge—men of genius, intellect and power—and in no instance has the strictness of privacy been violated.

Invalids must be cautioned against the illiterate and unlearned in science, who do so much injury by quackery and imposition. The Vegetable Medicines of Dr. D. are now sufficiently established, as the only certain remedy for Venereal complaints, and those who are afflicted with such complaints are seriously warned not to tamper with them, by trusting those who practice the abuse of mercury or balsam.

Dr. D. freely invites all troubled with disorders to call upon him. His charges are regulated by the circumstances of the case. No charge will be made where a cure is not effected. Dr. D. is a regular physician, having devoted many years to the exclusive study of these diseases, comprising, in their various shades, Gonorrhoea, Syphilis, Impotency, Strictures, Gleet, Scrofula, diseases of the bones, &c. Nothing is needed but to call upon him, to make everything satisfactory in a moment. Such is the absolute efficacy of the method of his cure, that no question can possibly exist about it, when once an individual becomes acquainted with the wholesome and certain process. It is but for a man to say he is afflicted, and see himself cured.

The greatest point for the consideration of everybody is, to avoid all communication with persons unqualified to give them relief. Serious and dangerous consequences ensue more than the world is aware of, from the treatment of quacks and impostors.

The only certain way is to visit the Lock Hospital, or Dr. D's office, at No. 150 Washington street, and at once place yourself under his care.

☞ Office will be kept open from 9 A. M. until 10 P. M.

☞ All letters (post-paid) will receive prompt attention. Any person wishing a private room, until cured, can have it by applying to Dr. D. 6d30

DR. ATKINSON,

Confidential Physician, 297 Randolph street, corner of Franklin, continues to cure all cases of disease of a Confidential nature, with secrecy and dispatch. His charges are moderate, success certain, and conduct honorable. Private Rooms, and entrance on Franklin street. Worst cases solicited. Letters from city or country, addressed to Dr. A., box 520, P. O., will meet due attention, and medicine can be sent secure to any part. se22-dly

[CERTIFICATES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 1853.

MR. SOLOMONS: Sir—I think it no more than an act of justice to you as well as to the American community to state the spectacles I bought of you suit me well. I find my sight much improved. I can see small print with them for any length of time without fatigue to my eyes. Should my sight continue to improve by the use of them, I have no doubt but I shall be able to read without them in a short time.

Yours truly, HENRY MORE, Jackson st.

CHICAGO, Jan. 18, 1853.

MR. SOLOMONS: Sir—The benefit I have derived from the Spectacles obtained from you, induces me to express the pleasure I have received from them. They suit my sight to admiration, by candle light as well as day; I read with the same case as when a boy; which I could not do with any other glasses I have used. It affords me the greatest pleasure to avail myself of this medium of testifying how satisfactory has been my own experience of your skill as an optician.

Important to those affected with Imperfect Vision

CHICAGO, January 27, 1853.

MR. SOLOMONS—I send you this certificate that you may make known the great benefit you have been to thousands of your citizens. I called with my husband at your office on Lake st., on the 15th inst., and bought a pair of your Patent Spectacles, which you recommended. But you must excuse me when I state I had but little faith in them at that time; and am happy to inform you I have now agreeably disappointed. I have not been able to sew or write a letter for the last three years. I am now able to do both as well as I ever could in my life. If any person was to offer me a hundred dollars, I would not part with them. I feel so pleased with them. I give you full liberty to use my name at any time, as I am sure your Spectacles have been a great benefit to me, and will be to the people of this nation.

I remain yours &c.

Mrs. A. HAMLIN, C. Randolph st.

MR. SOLOMONS: Sir—Having been induced to call on you from hearing of an advertisement in the Chicago newspapers headed "Sight and Hearing," I cannot refrain from adding my testimony in favor of your spectacles. I have tried almost every store in the State, and could not get any Spectacles to suit me. I have been laboring under a defect of sight for the last ten years, and for eight years have not been able to read or thread a needle, and consequently gave up all hopes of ever seeing again; but Mr. S. looked at my eyes and gave me a pair of Glasses which he recommended me to wear, and to the great delight of my husband and family, I was able to read a newspaper as well as when a girl of 16 years of age. After being nearly in darkness for eight years I am again, by the assistance of Mr. Solomons' Spectacles, in possession of good sight. RHODA M. POTTER,
Kinzie street, opposite Round House.

MORE NEW CERTIFICATES.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14, 1852.

MR. SOLOMONS: Sir—I have been under the necessity of using Glasses for several years, but have never found a pair to suit my eyes until I got them from Mr. S. Since that time I find my eyes much better. Wishing you every success in your undertaking, I am yours &c.

C. P. KELLOGG. No. 171 State st.

CHICAGO, 20th Jan. 1853.

MR. SOLOMONS:—I called at your office on the 22d day of Dec., and stated the nature of my eyes, which was very bad at that time; you suited me with Spectacles that did my eyes a great deal of good. They were very much inflamed at that time, but that inflamation has now left. I can now bear the light of sun or lamp as well as ever. I shall call on you and get another pair in case I should have any misfortune with them, as I would not be without them under any consideration. feb9 Yours truly, E. CARVER.

NOTICE.

MR. SOLOMONS' stay in Chicago, now being limited to Tuesday, March 15, and as he will not visit the country for many years, immediate application is absolutely necessary. feb9

NEW DISCOVERY FOR THE EYES

SPECTACLES, &c., ground on the exact principle of Spherical Accuracy, by G. SOLOMONS, the celebrated Optician, from the Improved Spectacle Manufactory and London Optical Establishment, No. 39 Old Bond st., London—established more than a century ago.

G. SOLOMONS, the sole inventor of the Improved Spectacles, and various improved Glasses, is now on a professional visit to this place, and may be consulted at his office, over Ware & Doggett's, 132 Lake st.

He has had the honor of attending the above named principal towns in the United Kingdom, where he has experienced the most flattering encouragement—and having been earnestly solicited to make a visit for a short time, he has the honor of announcing his arrival from London, with a most splendid assortment of his newly invented and improved spectacles, such is the superiority of these Glasses that persons having inflamed or weak eyes, may instantly be relieved by using them, and they possess the property of preserving the precious organ of sight to the most advanced period of life, while they enable both the old and the young to pursue the most minute employment for any length of time, both by day or candle light. As several individuals in the United States have proved their efficacy, he, with confidence, solicits the further favors of the public, which he will ever be proud to acknowledge, assuring those who entrust him with their commands, that no exertion shall be wanting on his part to merit their confidence and approbation. Added to the advantages possessed by him of long practice in the Eye Infirmaries, and under one of the most eminent Oculists, by which he has obtained a thorough knowledge of the diseases of vision, he has in his possession documents from individuals of rank, conveying the highest testimonials of approbation.

He will give references to persons in the United States who have found the greatest benefit and comfort from the use of his newly invented and improved spectacles.

NEW DISCOVERY FOR DEAFNESS.

The Sound Concentrator is an extraordinary, powerful, newly invented small instrument, for the cure of extreme cases of deafness, entirely different in make or construction from all others, surpassing everything of the kind that has been or probably ever can be produced. They are not uncomfortable to the cavity of the ear, and may rest within without projecting, and being of the same color as the skin are not perceptible. The powers of this valuable invention are so great as to restore defective hearing of long standing, to its perfect and natural state, and to enable deaf persons to join in general conversation, to hear most distinctly at a place of worship, at the bar or any public assembly; the unpleasant sensation of ringing noises in the ear is entirely removed, and the concentration afforded to individuals afflicted with this dreadful malady all the assistance that possibly can be desired.

Chicago, Dec. 21, 1852.

I have examined Mr. G. Solomons' trinoses and believe them to be constructed upon correct principles, and well suited for all such as have occasion to use them.

J. McLEAN, M. D.,
Professor Materia Medica, &c., Rush Medical College.

Chicago, Dec. 21, 1852.

I hereby certify that I am now using a pair of Mr. Solomons' trinoses, and I find them to answer a better purpose for near sightedness than any that I have ever used.

J. W. ELDRIDGE, M. D.

Detroit, Oct. 18, 1852.

I am fully of the opinion, from careful examination and a trial of Mr. Solomons' Glasses, that they are better calculated to accomplish the object designed them, than any now before the public, being shaped upon philosophical principles.

F. B. GLAZER, M. D.

Cleveland, Oct. 27, 1851.

It affords me pleasure to state that on the trial of several specimens of spectacles placed in my hands by Mr. Solomons, I find myself much relieved from a defect of vision, and especially weakness of the eyes, from which I have suffered for the last two years, whenever I have exercised them even for a short period of time. I think they are of an excellent quality and peculiarly adapted for such purposes.

J. P. KIRTLAND, M. D.,
Professor of Physical Diagnosis, and Theory and Practice of Medicine, Med. Dep. W. R. College.

Rochester, Jan. 13, 1851.

The best recommendation I can give the Glasses of Mr. Solomons, is that I use them myself and prefer them.

JAMES WEBSTER, M. D.,
Professor of Anatomy, University of Buffalo.

New York, June 4, 1852.

Having made trial of Mr. Solomons' Patent Spectacles, and examined the principle on which they are constructed, I have no hesitation in pronouncing them superior to any with which I am acquainted, and accordingly can most cheerfully recommend them to all who need artificial aid in improving their vision. CHAS. A. LEE, M. D.,
Professor of Pathology and Materia Medica, Geneva, Buffalo and Bowdoin College.

Philadelphia, June 4, 1850.

I cordially concur, as far as my judgment goes, in the opinion of my friend and colleague, Dr. Lee, in reference to the perfection of Mr. Solomons' convex and oval glasses, for farsightedness. The grinding appears to be good and clear, and the general workmanship superior.

JAMES BRYAN, M. D.,
Professor of Surgery, Geneva College.

Columbus, Feb. 3, 1853.

Having examined the spectacles of Mr. Solomons, I am fully convinced that they are of a superior quality. I have taken a pair for my own use, and find them unusually easy to the eye. R. L. HOWARD, dec6d&win Professor of Surgery, Sterling Med. College.

WISTAR'S

Balsam of Wild Cherry,

The Great Remedy for Consumption,

And the Best Medicine Known to Man

For Asthma of every stage, Liver Complaints, Bronchitis, Influenza, Coughs, Colds, Bleeding at the Lungs, Shortness of Breath, Pains and Weakness in the Side, Breast, &c., and all other diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

A very important disease over which this "Balsam" exerts a very powerful influence, is that of a

DISEASED LIVER.

In this complaint it has undoubtedly proved more efficacious than any remedy hitherto employed, and in numerous instances, when patients had endured long and severe suffering from the disease, without receiving the least benefit from various remedies, and when Mercury has been resorted to in vain, the use of this Balsam has restored the Liver to a healthy action; and in many instances effected permanent cures, after every known remedy had failed to produce this desired effect.

Besides its astonishing efficacy in the diseases above mentioned, we also find it a very effectual remedy in Asthma, a complaint in which it has been very extensively used, with decided success, even in cases of years' standing.

READ THE FOLLOWING.

We are just in receipt of the following voluntary tribute to the curative power of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, from E. Hall, M. D., of Mt. Clemens, Macomb, who is a physician of high standing, and an extensive druggist.

MT. CLEMENS, Michigan, Oct. 29, 1852.

To all the afflicted this may certify that Mrs. E. Roberts, of this village, three or four weeks after confinement, was attacked with a violent cough and great prostration, and seemed hastening to the grave with rapidity. I advised her to use Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry—she did so, and with that valuable medicine alone, in the space of three or four weeks, was restored to health, and is now a living proof of the value of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

E. HALL, Physician and Druggist.

Read and be convinced still further of the remarkable virtues of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry:

Messrs. SANFORD & PARK—Gents: As a matter of justice to you, and for the benefit of the public, I would offer the following statement of a cure effected by that medicine known as Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. In the spring of 1847, my wife was severely attacked with periodical coughs, of a [illegible], which resulted in a deep seated pain in the right side, accompanied with a severe cough. She was attended by some of the best physicians in Chicago, but to no purpose, for weeks she suffered without rest, coughing incessantly night and day. I came to the conclusion that all the remedies known to physicians could not help her and was induced to try your Wild Cherry. I procured one bottle, and commenced using it according to directions, before it was all gone the cough stopped, the pain in her side left her, and with the aid of another bottle, she was restored to perfect health. In consideration of these circumstances, I would recommend it to the public as a valuable medicine.

Yours, Respectfully, E. S. CARRATT.

HEAR THE PRESS.

From the Fall River (Mass.) Monitor.

"This medicine, prepared by a long experienced and skilful physician, tested and approved by a great number of intelligent, distinguished and respectable persons in various parts of the country, is now received and used with entire confidence, and it is also recommended as a valuable medicine for other diseases, such as colds, coughs, and particularly those diseases whose tendency is to consumption."

From the Boston Mercantile Journal.

"This medicine, coming from a respectable source, and carefully prepared by an experienced and skilful physician, is received by the public with confidence. Its efficacy has been proved in many obdurate cases of disease, and its fame has rapidly extended. It has been extensively used in every part of the country, particularly in the Middle and Northern States, and strong testimony from intelligent and highly respectable persons has been adduced in favor of its merits as a remedy for colds and coughs, affections of the chest, diseased liver and dyspepsia."

From the Cincinnati Daily Times.

"We would advise those of our readers who are laboring under an affection of the lungs to make immediate trial of this truly excellent medicine. The most respectable and intelligent families of our city have adopted it as a favorite medicine; and persons predisposed to consumption, who have used it, speak in the highest terms of its efficacy."

INTERESTING CORRESPONDENCE.

The afflicted are requested to read the following letter received from James Ruth, Jr., publisher of the Shelbyville (Tenn.) Expositor:

SHELBYVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 3, 1852.

J. D. PARK—Dear Sir: I take it as a duty I owe to the community, and particularly to the afflicted, to state what I know of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. For a number of years my wife had been afflicted, and was laboring under a disease and weakness of the lungs—coughing to such an extent that it was with great difficulty she breathed. I could find no medicine that would give any relief, until I purchased a bottle of the Balsam. This gave relief to some extent, and the fifth bottle perfected a cure. I look upon it as the best medicine ever offered to the public for the cure of those diseases of the Lungs and Liver. I have witnessed its effects on other families with equal success.

Yours, JAMES RUTH, Jr.,
Editor Shelbyville Expositor.

IT SELDOM FAILS TO CURE.

St. Louis, July 12, 1852.

Mr. H. BLAKSLEY—Dear Sir: I take great pleasure in making known to you the benefit I have received from the use of DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. My lungs had been seriously affected with bleeding for the last three years. At times the bleeding was profuse, so much so as to render me very nervous and quite alarmed. I employed several of our most skilful physicians—their treatment afforded me temporary relief. I then procured from you, and used two bottles of "Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry," and from it have received every benefit my heart could desire, the medicine having effected a perfect cure, and I am now in the enjoyment of sound lungs and the best health; all of which I can attribute to no other agency than the use of Wistar's Balsam.

You are at liberty to use this statement if you think proper. I have resided in St. Louis twelve years, and can be seen at my residence by any person wishing further particulars. (signed.) WM. L. JOHNSON,
Residence, Fourteenth st.—one door north Franklin Av.

CAUTION.—The genuine "Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry," has a fac-simile of the signature of Henry Wistar, M. D., Philadelphia, and "Sanford and Park," on a finely executed steel engraved wrapper. No other can be genuine.

NEW YORK ADVERTISEMENTS.
FROM S M. PETTENGILL & CO.'S ADVERTISING AGENTS.

Important to Housekeepers.

SOMETHING better & more economical than Soda, Cream Tartar, or any other preparation in existence, for baking. Durkee's Chemical Yeast, or Baking Powder.—For raising Bread, Biscuit, Fried, Griddle and Johnny Cakes, Puddings, Pot Pies, Corn Bread, sweet Cakes, Apple Dumplings, Pastry, &c., &c.

This article is one that every Family, Hotel, Boarding House, Eating Saloon, Ship, Steamboat, Vessel, Canal Boat, &c., will find, upon careful trial, to be the very thing needed every single day of their existence.

Its most important advantages over the old sytem, are—1. It saves the expense of milk, eggs, shortening, spoiled bread, and the trouble and expense of procuring good yeast—water only being necessary. 2. No time is required for the dough to rise before baking; consequently bread may be made in a few minutes. 3. A cook can always depend upon having light, sweet, tender and palatable bread and biscuit, whether the flour be of the best quality or not. 4. Bread made by this process is much more nutritious, easier of digestion, better suited for a weak stomach, sweeter, whiter and lighter, than when made with yeast. 5. The bread made by fermentation does not afford the same amount of nourishment to the system, that it does when made with this compound; because the vegetable acid contained in fermented bread, prevents the proper action of the gastric fluid upon it, and consequently, a part only goes to nourish the body, while the acids tends to produce dyspepsia and its attendant evils.

This article has been thoroughly tested, and is universally liked. When used according to the directions, it is warranted to suit.

Be careful to ask for DURKEE'S BAKING POWDER, and take no other, and you will not be deceived. Principal office 139 Water street New York. Sold by the best grocers and druggists generally. Agent in Chicago, J. B. DOGGETT.

The Vulcan Cook Stove

WE would respectfully call the attention of persons wishing to purchase a Cooking Stove, to the Vulcan. Two years of successful experiment by an appreciating public, have stamped this as the best cooking stove in use. For economy and utility, this Stove is unsurpassed. By a peculiar adaptation and arrangement of the flues, this stove will with less trouble, do the same amount of work, and in one year's time at the farthest, save more than enough over ordinary air tight Cook Stoves, in fuel, to purchase a new one. To those who have seen or used this Stove, it would be supererogation on our part to say another word in commendation. Those who have not had the good fortune to see this Stove, and are intending to purchase one, are requested to call immediately, for the demand is such that we cannot promise how long we will have a supply. Remember, this Stove is adapted to either coal or wood. WM. KENNEDY & SONS, 181 Lake st.

BEWARE OF FRAUD.

A certain Air Tight Stove has been advertised to endeavor to bolster up its waning reputation, as having received the Diploma at the late Mechanics' Fair. This is not so, the Vulcan took the Diploma, and was the admired of all admirers. We have the documents and can show them. We are the only agents for Chicago. W. KENNEDY & SONS, 181 Lake st., Chicago.

DURYEE & FORSYTH'S SCALES.

THE Subscribers, thankful for the very liberal patronage of the Public, take this method to announce that they have recently received from the celebrated Manufactory of Duryee & Forsyth, of Rochester, a full assortment of Scales, Sugar Mills, Copying Presses, and Warehouse Trucks, and in view of the extensive machinery they have been enabled to introduce in the manufacture of their Scales, they have made a great reduction on former prices, being determined to sell at such prices as will command the trade. All the scales manufactured at this establishment, are under the immediate supervision of Mr. Duryee, who is a practical mechanic of long experience in the manufactory of weighing machinery, and may be relied upon as being made of the best material and of superior workmanship. The bearing edges are made of the best cast steel, well tempered, and great care taken in their adjustment. We will warrant these Scales to be accurate—to be as strong, as durable, and as well finished in every particular, as any Scales in this market, and at prices that will make it an object to those wishing a good scale to buy of us. RAYMOND, WARD & CO., Agents at Chicago.

STATE OF NEW YORK, CANAL COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE, ALBANY June 21, 1852.

Messrs. E. & T. Fairbanks & Co.—Gents.—Your favor of the 10th, asking my views of the Weigh Lock Scales manufactured by you, and introduced upon the Erie Canal, is duly received.

In the report of the Canal Commissioners, submitted to the Legislature 1st of January last, I took occasion to express my satisfaction with your Scales, and have since seen no reason to change my mind.

I have no hesitation in saying that they have fully answered your recommendation in every particular. Their capacity for strength is fully equal to sustain the required burthen—they are not liable to get out of order or repair—the arrangement of the Weighing Beam is admirably adapted to obtain rapid results. I know of no scale superior to them, in this or any other country.

In great haste, yours truly, JNO. C. MATHER, Canal Commissioner.

Mathematical and Classical School,
FOR MALES AND FEMALES,
(OPPOSITE THE CITY HOTEL.)
56 Lake Street, Chicago, Ill.

THE THIRD TERM will commence on Monday, February 21st.

This institution, of more than three years standing, affords facilities for a thorough English and Classical education.

Young men may here fit themselves for business, or for advanced classes in College, in much less time, and at less expense, than in any other Institution in the West.

Students have been taught to solve mentally the most intricate problems in Arithmetic and Algebra in a single term. They are taught how to exercise their faculties to think and reason—to make their minds familiar with principles—to analyze and combine subjects—grace, cause and effect—in short, to acquire mental and moral power to apply to the machinery of human life.

The Principal has had fifteen years successful practice in his profession, more than ten of which he has been at the head of flourishing Academical schools in the East and South.

The number of pupils is limited to 60, and not more than 20 pupils will be assigned to each teacher. Students are admitted at any time, but will never be charged for less than half a term.

We desire no application except such as wish to improve and are willing to be prompt and regular in attendance and attentive to business.

Doors open to visitors at all times.

Terms, $5, $8 and $10 per quarter, always in advance.—Refunded in case of protracted sickness.

Chicago Piano Forte Manufactory.
C. KNAUER & SON,
Piano Forte Manufacturers, 131 & 133 N. Clark St.,

THAT which was an experiment a year or two since, is now a fixed fact, the permanent establishment of a PIANO MANUFACTORY IN CHICAGO.

The experience of the advertisers in their business in Europe and in this country, have enabled them to fully demonstrate, with economy and perseverance, that Musical Instruments of the Most elaborate kind, in general use, can be and has been manufactured in Chicago, which in volume, tone, finish and general perfection equals any thing brought from the East. To prove this we refer to those in this city and neighborhood who have purchased from us and now use them, all of which having given the utmost satisfaction.

That nothing may escape their attention in the way of style or improvement in their line, one of the Proprietors visited the East a few weeks since, to examine any thing new which has been adopted there, and has returned fully prepared to exhibit them to their customers and the public.—They invite particular attention to the new styles of Grand Square Pianos.

Persons wanting Organs, Pianos, or any other Musical Instruments in their line, will find it to their advantage to call and examine our stock and prices, as we are confident that we can furnish in quality and style, as good as can be had in the East, at prices much lower than they can be brought here.
